A partnership between two of the oldest and most respected institutions in the Asia Pacific Region, Ngee Ann Kongsi and the University of Adelaide, can only mean one thing — success.

For over 15 years, the Ngee Ann—Adelaide Education Centre has contributed to the booming business industry in Singapore by producing generations of leading talents and a skilled workforce. With top-notch educational programs and a team of experienced professionals, it's no wonder two budding business minds has made the private institute their choice to journey toward greater heights.

Guide to Degree finds out from these two inspired individuals, Si Tian (Bachelor of Commerce) and Hang Qi (Bachelor of Innovation & Entrepreneurship), on how student life is like at Ngee Ann—Adelaide Education Centre.

How has your experience been in Ngee Ann Kongsi?

Si Tian: My experience in NAA has been amazing. NAA has done a great job in executing international education to Singapore. There is a high level of engage-m ent and interaction between lecturers, staff and students, which creates a sociable environment to learn more.

Hang Qi: My experience has been a fruitful and enriching learning journey, gaining new knowledge and useful skills from each module.

What brought you to pursue your program?

Si Tian: I chose the Bachelor of Commerce (Marketing) programme because I see a potential for growth and the need of gaining business marketing knowledge, be it in public, private or government-owned sectors.

Hang Qi: The Bachelor of Innovation & Entrepreneurship programme provided me with the flexibility to pursue my degree education, while pursuing my dream at the same time. The very specific, career-aligned modules attracted me to choose this programme. I believed it would aid me in my future job prospects.

Why did you choose NAA to pursue your course?

Si Tian: The University Of Adelaide has an international reputation and is ranked the top 1% of universities in the world. Thus, it enhances the credibility of my degree. In addition, the programme structure, central campus location, and global learning opportunities via student exchange programmes were other winning factors for me.

Hang Qi: The University of Adelaide is consistently ranked in the top 1% of universities in the world, and a member of the prestigious group of eight in Australia. This gives students a chance to pursue an overseas degree in Singapore. The tuition fees are affordable and reasonable and students are also able to apply for scholarships.

“NAA provided me with more than just textbook knowledge”

The university of Adelaide is consistently ranked in the top 1% of the universities in the world

Do you think the school has prepared you well for the industry?

Si Tian: It has! It has taught me to work independently, and learn new concepts quickly with minimal supervision. Moreover, the group work allows me to work hand-in-hand with different people which helps to make me more adaptable in the corporate world.

Hang Qi: I personally feel that the school has prepared me well for the industry. There are many assignments and projects throughout the programme that allows me to learn, and prepares me for what’s next. NAA provided me with more than just textbook knowledge and allowing me to explore the industry.

What are some of the career prospects a graduate of Commerce/Innovation & Entrepreneurship can look forward to?

Si Tian: With Singapore being a business hub, there are many career prospects. Some of the top jobs in the public, private or government sectors include financial services and professional services.

Hang Qi: Even if the student does not want to start his or her own business and be an entrepreneur, there are many career prospects for a graduate. The skills and knowledge acquired from the programme can be applied in any industry.
